Pathways from S1 to S6
and beyond

INTRODUCTION

The Humanities faculty provides a varied and robust curriculum, which enables children and young people to develop a greater understanding of the world around them. From the study of the ancient world, to the creation of modern society and religion, studying humanities is an opportunity to discover how our society has been formed, providing students with the necessary skills to look to the future.

Humanities brings together History, Religious Moral & Philosophical Studies and Classical Studies (see separate flyer) into one faculty. These subjects engage learners in the study of people past and present, learning about their beliefs and values as well as the main events of the time.
